The Society of Women Environmental Professionals (SWEP) is a national non-profit professional association of women involved or interested in environmental law, science, education, business, and policy.

Our Rocky Mountain Chapter serves as a resource for members in the Rocky Mountain region, providing opportunities for professional development through, networking, mentoring, and public service.

SWEP Mission:

The Rocky Mountain Chapter of SWEP was formed in 2006 as a resource for women environmental professionals in the Rocky Mountain region. The mission of SWEP Rocky Mountain Chapter is:

- To encourage and promote the leadership, achievement, and professional development of women in the environmental professions;
- To provide an informal setting for women in the environmental professions to meet, share substantive information and work experiences, and to establish a communications exchange;
- To educate members on new developments and current trends in the environmental field;
- To encourage and promote the development of business relationships; and
- To encourage and promote public service in the environmental field.
